

AHK Graduate Programme

Case Study: Theodoros Theodorou

Name:

Theodoros Theodorou

Job Title:

Market Data Analyst

Qualification:

Bachelors in Geology and a Masters in Metals and Energy Finance

Theo began his AHK journey in the Technical and Commercial Graduate Programme and has worked his way up to his current role as a Market Data Analyst. In his role, Theo takes ownership of all aspects of market research and analysis in order to turn data into insight and insight into business decisions.

Theo performs commercial analysis to drive strategic decisions and business growth and he presents his findings to various stakeholders upwards to the executive level. Working within the Business Planning and Analysis Team, Theo works alongside numerous departments, both in the UK and overseas, such as Operations, Laboratory and IT.

Theo's AHK Journey

My journey with AHK has been a very interesting one, starting from as early as the first month of being a graduate. During my first 9 months I had the opportunity to travel and see operations in China, Europe and Central Asia. After that I joined the business development team and started getting hands on experience in market research, building client relationships and also expanding the business to new geographies. Recently I assumed my latest role as a Market Data Analyst and focusing on my new tasks.

Definitely the highlight has been the ability to travel and witness first hand global metals and minerals hubs around the world and enhance my understanding of the commodities value chain.

“During my first 9 months I had the opportunity to travel and see operations in China, Europe and Central Asia.”

“AHK is a fast growing company who are looking for bright people with ideas”

Advice to Graduates

My advice to any graduates looking to apply to the AHK Graduate Programme is to be versatile. Accept any challenges that may come your way and try to be as innovative as possible, and provides solutions. AHK is a fast growing company who are looking for bright people with ideas that will make the business better.

